

Media diversity is impossible with media ownership consisting of an oligarchy. The present direction that the FCC is headed is only going to limit the opinions and expressions possible for people to see and hear. For once I would like to be able to change the dial and hear something that is not just another repetition of the same thing I just tried to avoid. I would go so far as to say that "true" freedom of the press is being greatly hindered by this. Please don't make the problem of information restriction worse.
